NEW YORK, March 24.—There will some day be a world war centering around China unless the peace conference gives her a full measure of "self-determination," according to Thomas F. Millard, who writes an appeal for justice to China's case at the Peace Conference in the April number of Century.

Mr. Millard is regarded in certain quarters as a semi-official spokesman for the Chinese government. He has been in China for many years and has written several books about the country, notably "Our Eastern Question." He insists that the United States has obligations and responsibilities toward China which have been written into international treaties and agreements. By the "Hay doctrine" he alleges that this country is obligated to observe and maintain the territorial integrity of China and the commercial "open door."

According to Mr. Millard, this nation has such an enormous stake in the future development and maintenance of the peace of the world that it is obviously very important for Americans to understand what China wants at the peace conference, what justice demands should be given her, and in what way the reconstruction of China during the reconstruction period consists. Unless China's voice and aspirations are stifled by secret diplomacy, her demands on the peace conference, Mr. Millard claims, will take some such form as follows:

What China Wants

1. Cancellation of all treaty provisions that grant or recognize rights tantamount to "spheres of influence" within China's territories, or any monopolistic privileges that cannot be available to all nations under the most favored clause.

2. Nationalism, or internationalization, of all railways in China's territories.

3. Cancellation of all monopolistic rights accorded to foreigners or foreign nations in China, and of all other "concessions" that tend to limit and impair China's sovereignty and the commercial "open door" principle.

4. Relinquishment of all leases of Chinese commercial territories to foreign nations and the temporary substitution thereof of international control, with the provision that they will fully revert to China, on the fulfillment by her of certain stipulations.

5. Removal of all foreign troops from China's territories, except those provided by the protocol of 1901, those to be also withdrawn on the fulfillment by China of certain stipulations.

6. Removal of all foreign posts and telegraphs from China, and foreign supervision over the Chinese postal service to cease on the fulfillment by China of certain stipulations.

7. Establishment of a uniform currency system in China, to be supported by an international loan under conditions tending to a gradual assumption of Chinese control.

8. Granting of complete tariff autonomy to China within a specified conditions whereby China's fiscal administration will be gradually reformed.

9. Abolition of extra-territoriality.

A Statement From F. E. Shallenberger

The recommendation of the grand jury for my dismissal from the position as superintendent of construction for the board of education was based on the testimony of those who knew at the time they were testifying that there would not be anyone called to refute their testimony and I had no chance to present my side of the matter.

This recommendation came at a time I was not in the employ of the board of education, but nevertheless the unjustness exists, for it stands as a recommendation from a body of men who are supposed to be of good standing and responsibility in the community where they reside.

I feel each recommendation should not have been given until other witnesses had been called and their testimony taken into consideration and all weighed together, and I feel sure no such recommendation would have been given.

My relations with the board of education has at all times been of the most pleasant character. I have at all times discharged my duties in a faithful manner and required at all times the construction work to be carried out as per the plans and the specifications.

The school buildings in the Washington district were not designed along certain lines just as they should have been, although the former city building inspector passed on them as to their construction and issued a building permit for their erection.

In the course of the construction of the above buildings and before their completion, defects were discovered to exist. These defects were ordered to be changed by me, also some faulty construction was ordered to be made right, which was done at the expense of the contractors.

There are some 20 or more buildings outside of the ones mentioned above which were erected under my supervision and are there to show for themselves as being of the best of their kind.

I have done my whole duty while in their employ and am not ashamed of my work and believe the board of education feels the same for the following letter was received by me.

F. E. SHALLENBERGER,
Recommended for Full-Ful Services,
Mr. F. E. Shallenberger,
Tulsa, Okla.

Dear Mr. Shallenberger:
At a recent meeting of the board of education a resolution was passed authorizing me to notify you that on account of the shortage of funds and the nearness of completion of the construction work the board must necessarily discontinue your services as superintendent of construction.

The board desires to express its appreciation to you for your faithful services and for your co-operation during the time of your employment by the board. Sincerely yours,
(Signed) E. E. OHLERTZ,
Superintendent Tulsa City Schools.

In China within a specified time and on the fulfillment by China of certain stipulations.

10. Consolidation of the national debt of China, all outstanding loans, provincial and national, to be absorbed in a single loan or series of loans underwritten by a financial syndicate under international supervision.

11. Restoration of Chinese local administrative autonomy in all parts of Chinese territories where during recent years it has been inordinately subordinated to foreign authority.
